Dedication at Bridge Plaza Is Approved
Economic Changes Up Before Soviet Vote

Party Boss
Calls for Wide Cuts
Would Transfer
Some Ministries

Moscow, May 7 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev told a special session of the Supreme Soviet today his proposed sweeping economic reorganization plan must be put into effect "in the interest of further development of the economy."

The Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, is meeting to approve the plan. It convened in the Kremlin's marble-pillared former throne room of the czars.

20 Are Abolished

The Communist party boss told the legislators his plan would mean a "transfer of the center of gravity" in the Soviet Union to territorial and local managements.

Khrushchev announced the abolition of over 20 industrial ministries and consolidation of several others.

He called for sweeping cuts in the Soviet Union's army of administrators and bureaucrats. Many of these will be moved from the amenities of Moscow to the more Spartan life of the growing industrial towns in the outer regions.

Two Many Supervisors

"We have so many supervisors checking on the output of neckties that the quality of our neckties is still pretty inferior," Khrushchev said.

He proposed the creation of 92 regional economic councils to run the economy. Of these, 68 will be in the Russian republic, 11 in the Ukraine and one in each of the other 13 constituent republics making up the U.S.S.R.

Loud applause greeted Khrushchev's remark that it "evidently would be expedient to move some ministries from Moscow and bring them closer to centers of production."

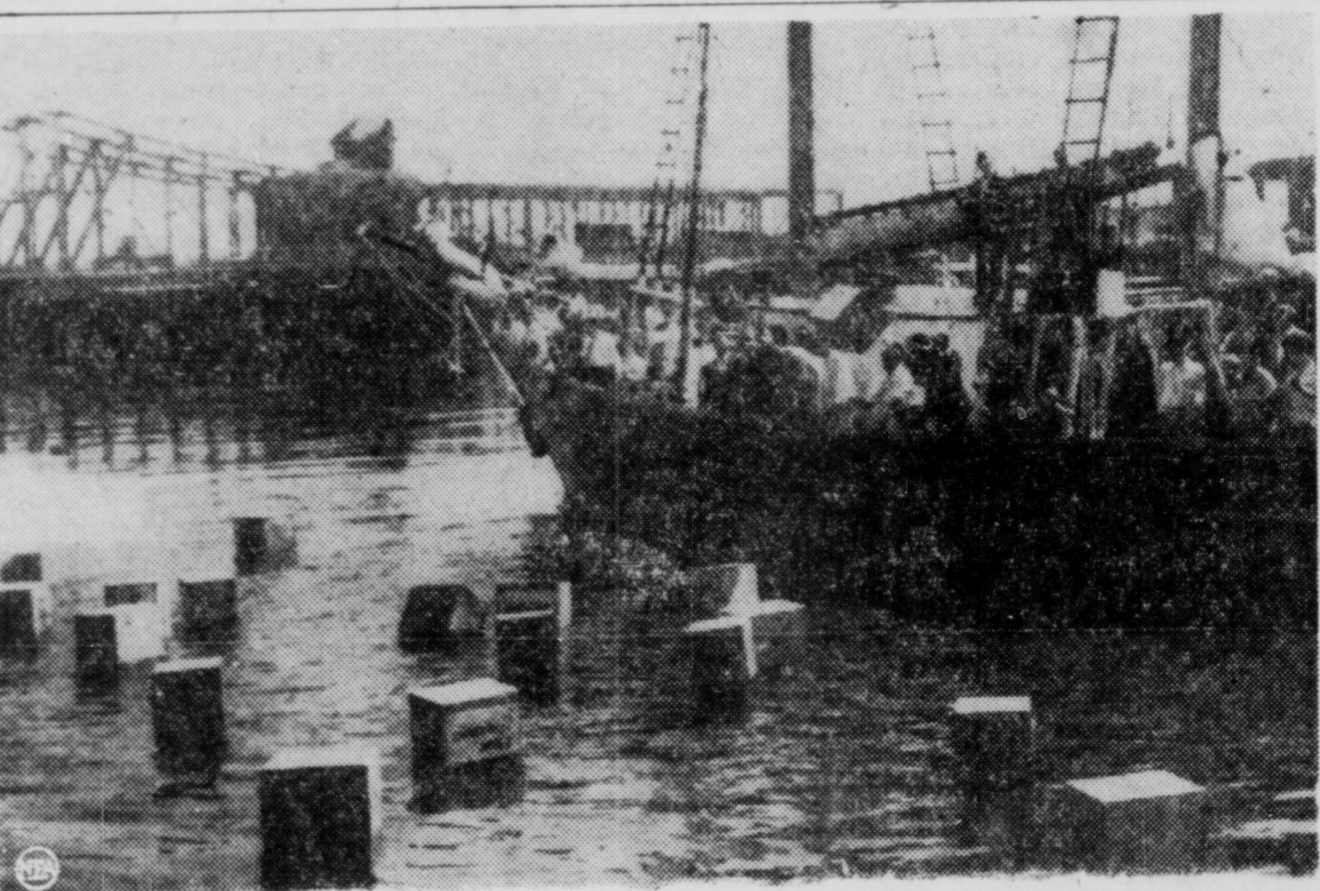

With a grin, the roly-poly party boss said:

Prefer Bright Lights

"I think the people who are applauding are not from the ministries. I can tell the deputies in secret that some comrade told me if I expressed these views here the workers of the ministries would themselves demand the abolition of the ministries."

The crowded chamber echoed with laughter.

It is no secret that Soviet

TEA-LESS TEA PARTY—The Boston Tea Party—without tea—is reenacted as 25 "Indians," including Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), dump three dozen cartons into Boston Harbor from a schooner. Instead of tea, the cases were empty; but they were labeled "High Taxes," "High Spending," "Inflation," "Federal Debt," "Inefficiency" and "Bureaucracy." The demonstration was against President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget. (NEA Telephoto)

Various Arguments Advanced
Hurley Petitions Asks
School Vote Vacated

A special school meeting held April 6 in Union Free School District No. 5, Town of Hurley, at the West Hurley school is being attacked on several grounds of irregularities, and the Commissioner of Education is being petitioned to vacate action taken at the meeting to set a date for a vote.

The proposition submitted at the April 6 meeting was whether or not an order of the Commissioner of Education, annexing the school district to the Ontario Central School District should be approved.

15 On Petition

In a petition made by Thomas M. McNally and 14 other residents of the district, the action of the special school meeting voting annexation by a vote of 161 to 143 is attacked on several grounds.

The petition attacks the conduct at the meeting, the preliminary steps taken or omitted prior to the meeting, the manner in which the meeting was conducted and admission of votes which it is alleged were cast by persons not qualified to vote.

Challenge Procedure

Specifically the appeal alleges steps preliminary to the meeting were not in accordance with the law. The board consists of three trustees and the order of the commissioner of education providing for the annexation of the district to Ontario was not served on Trustee Clayton W. Vredenberg, although the petition alleges the law requires all three trustees be served. Legality of the posted and published notices of the meeting is also attacked.

It is charged that a chairman, one Robert Nussbaum, was elected chairman of the meeting

Move On
For More Housing

Buffalo, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole offered today to explore "any feasible plan" that could lead to increased participation by private enterprise in the field of urban renewal.

"If we look solely to the federal government for assistance, even a multi-billion dollar outlay still would not be sufficient to take care of the needs of American cities in their war against urban blight," he declared in a prepared speech.

Talks to Bankers

Cole addressed more than 900 savings bank executives attending the 37th annual conference of the National Assn. of Mutual Banks which ends tomorrow.

"All available forces, local as well as federal, have to be exerted on the problem," he said. He added his hopes that "the forces of private enterprise would be in the vanguard."

Other speakers on today's program included Thomas E. Lovejoy Jr., president of the Manhattan Life Insurance Co. and George S. Goodyear, president of the National Assn. of Home Builders.

Discusses Interest

"I have been a little amused at the complaints (in recent months) about high interest," Lovejoy said in a prepared speech. "Actually the interest rates for long term money are not high in relation to the interest rates that were prevalent during the 1920s."

"Historically," he continued, "we have always had high interest rates in this country—the demand for funds to finance our industrial growth was greater than the savings available for investment."

"Between the 1920s and recent months we have had, from a historical point of view, unusually easy interest rates brought about artificially," he said.

Spoils Some

"This has spoiled some of our people," he declared. But he went on to describe

Former Regatta
Boathouses Are Ruined by Fire

Two large frame boathouses on the Hudson river just north of Poughkeepsie were burned to the ground early last night in a fire of unknown origin.

Known as the California and Washington boathouses, they were formerly used during the far-famed Poughkeepsie regattas held on the river until some 12 or 15 years ago.

Shells Lost in Flames

More recently they have been used as storage for shells used by area high schools. A number of shells were reportedly lost in the flames.

The nearby Cornell boathouse, of brick construction, was undamaged.

The first alarm was sounded shortly before 9 p. m. The boathouses are located in the Fairview Fire District and the Fairview company responded. Shortly after 9 p. m. the Poughkeepsie Fire Department was summoned and dispatched three pumps and a hook and ladder truck. The Fairview department sent a pumper and tanker.

Kingston Knights
Eulogize McCarthy

A resolution citing the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy "for alerting the American people to the dangers of Communism in our government" was passed at a regular meeting of Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus, Monday night.

Howard L. Fox, past grand knight of the local council, who introduced it, asked that a copy, "duly signed and sealed," be offered to Mrs. McCarthy as an expression of heartfelt sympathy "in her deep affliction."

The resolution further stated, "Senator Joseph R. McCarthy was a brother Knight of Columbus, and a distinguished senator of the United States . . . by his death, we have sustained the loss of a beloved patriotic American."

Francis A. Reis, also a past grand knight of the council, seconded the resolution, which directed that "this meeting May 6, 1957, be closed in prayerful memory of our departed brother."

Catskill Forest Fire Ruins 100 Acres;
State's Woodlands Called 'Explosive'

Approximately 100 acres of heavily wooded land on Potic Mountain about four miles west of Catskill were burned in a fire which raged through most of Monday afternoon before it could be brought under control.

Four fire companies, the State Conservation Department and about 100 volunteers fought the flames for five hours. Gusty winds added to their difficulties.

The Potic Mountain fire was one of some 28 brush fires reported throughout the state in an Associated Press roundup.

Senator Is Lauded for Dedication
Church and Flag
His Whole Life

Appleton, Wis., May 7 (AP)—The altar and the flag were described today as the "epitomy of the life" of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

The Rev. Adam Grill, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, made the statement in a sermon prepared for delivery at the third and final funeral service for the Wisconsin Republican who died last Thursday of a liver ailment.

"Before us we see the flag-draped casket of the Senator, May Almighty God be good to him," Father Grill said. "If our God would allow him to use his lifeless arms. Sen. McCarthy would point out to all of us two objects in this church as an expression of his whole life. He would first point to the altar and secondly to the flag which drapes his casket."

Epitomy of Life

"Why would he do this? Because they contain the epitomy of his life. Sen. McCarthy was a dedicated man. When he took upon himself a task, he gave his whole heart and soul to a successful completion of this work. He loved his God, and his country."

"There are enemies from within and from without," Father Grill said, and added, "of all the great men in our country, no one recognized this more completely than Sen. McCarthy."

"Sen. McCarthy was like a man of old who saw this danger to his country, and clothed in the shining armor and zeal of love and holding within his hands the sword of truth he declared in a prepared speech."

Report Nicaraguans
Cross Border Area

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, May 7 (AP)—Efforts to bring peace to the restive Honduras-Nicaraguan border area were jolted today by an unofficial report that Nicaraguan troops had invaded the Cifuentes area in southeastern Honduras.

The reports, which lacked official confirmation but came from reliable sources, said the border crossing occurred at 5:30 a. m. Cifuentes is about 75 miles east of Tegucigalpa, the Honduran capital.

Earlier a Latin-American peace team had talked until early this morning with Honduras' ruling military Junta about troop withdrawals from the disputed border area.

The meeting with the committee from the Organization of American States (OAS) was held behind closed doors, but official sources said Honduras was insisting that Nicaragua pull its

Open Air
Ceremony
Scheduled
Luncheon Will Be Held at Rhinebeck

Dedication ceremony of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge will take place on the plaza at the west end of the bridge starting at 2 p. m. Saturday, May 11.

It had been planned at first to have this portion of the program at the Kate Walton Field House in Kingston.

Final plans for the dedication Saturday were approved by the dedication committee at a meeting in Rhinebeck last evening.

Begins At Noon

The bridge dedication day program will begin at noon with an informal luncheon for invited guests, headed by Governor Averell Harriman, at the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck. At the luncheon Frederic Snyder of Kingston will deliver a short address of welcome. A. Chester Haen, co-chairman of the dedication committee, will preside.

At 1:30 the luncheon guests will form a motorcade and proceed to the plaza at the west end of the bridge for the dedication ceremony to which the public is invited. A large crowd is expected.

Program Listed

Percy Bush, co-chairman of the dedication committee will present Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, who will serve as master of ceremonies. After the presentation of guests, Federal Judge John M. Cashin, representing Arthur H. Wicks, State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield, co-sponsors of the original bridge bill in 1947, will be introduced. Both will speak.

Mrs. William C. Kingman, whose late husband was on the original Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Committee, which promoted the legislation leading to the construction of the present bridge, and Mrs. James F. Loughran, widow of the chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority when the construction was started, will be presented and will unveil the bronze plaque on the base of the flagpole in the bridge plaza.

Heppner to Speak

John F. Stillman, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, will then introduce the members of the authority including Ernest M. Heppner, Ulster county member, who will speak in their behalf.

The principal feature of the bridge dedication ceremony will be an address by Governor Averell Harriman.

Should inclement weather prevail on Saturday it is planned to have the entire program at the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck following the luncheon. Should this be necessary the program starting at 2 o'clock will be open to the public.

Souvenir Tickets

Cost of the dedication program is being defrayed by the sale of souvenir tickets at a very nominal price. Ticket includes the cost of two trips over the bridge starting on Saturday and for thirty days thereafter.

The committee which has charge of the entire dedication program was organized nearly two years ago by interested citizens from both sides of the Hudson river. They have been working closely with the Bridge Authority in making plans for the dedication Saturday.

Members of Committee

The complete personnel of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Dedication Committee is as follows:

George L. Berry, Kingston; James H. Betts, Kingston; William Bieber, Kingston; Percy Bush, co-chairman, Kingston; Lester Butler, Rhinecliff; Ezra Cookingham, Red Hook; Frederick J. K. Ertel, Kingston; Silas Frazer, Rhinebeck; A. Chester Haen, co-chairman, Rhinebeck; Oakleigh Hamm, treasurer, Red Hook; Rev. Paul E. Henry, Red Hook; Albert Kurdt, secretary, Kingston; Arthur London, 'Saugerties'; Maynard Mizel, Kingston; Norman Reamer, Saugerties; Thomas Reynolds, Saugerties; Lloyd Rockefeller, Red Hook; Philip Stall Jr., Rhinecliff; Kenneth Stewart, Rhinebeck; Carl Stockenberg, Red Hook; Jacob H. 16,000 Eligible to Ballot

Nine Districts Listed
For Junior High Vote

Voting on a proposed bond issue of $2,667,500 for construction of a junior high school in the Dietz Stadium area started today at noon and will continue until 9 o'clock tonight.

Nine Districts

The city has been divided into the following districts for the balloting:

District 1—(Wards 1 and 10) School No. 8.
District 2—(Ward 2) School No. 6.
District 3—(Ward 3) School No. 5.
District 4—(Wards 4 and 5) School No. 4.
District 5—(Ward 6) School No. 3.
District 6—(Wards 7 and 8) School No. 2.
District 7—(Ward 9) MJM School.
District 8—(Wards 11 and 13) George Washington School.
District 9—(Ward 12) Firehouse on Hurley avenue.

Those Eligible

Approximately 16,000 voters are eligible to cast their ballots in the referendum. Those eligible are persons who were registered for the 1956 elections—16,094—plus about 25 more who registered during the weeks of April 1-6 and 8-13 at the municipal auditorium.

Cost of the four major contracts have been estimated by the architect, Augustus S. Schrowang, at $2,131,192. In addition to this amount, however, there is an architect's fee, cost of furniture and equipment, storm and sanitary sewers, etc.

It is the feeling of the board of education that the school is essential to the educational program of the city, that the proposed 1,000-pupil school is required simply for its resident children alone, regardless of the consolidation issue.

Opposition has arisen from the Kingston Civil Association, however, which feels that the matter of consolidation should be resolved first.

The board feels, on the other hand, that if it waits for resolving of the consolidation issue, education in Kingston will be set back several years and that pupil load will force the board to institute "double sessions."

All Urged to Vote

The Freeman, which has devoted columns presenting all phases of the issue, said in a page one editorial Monday, "We feel that the majority of the people certainly know what they want in the matter of educational opportunities for our youth. We also feel they can be trusted to express themselves forthrightly."

The editorial further stated: Every qualified voter should make it his personal business to take part in determining this referendum. In no other way can the results express the wishes of the people, as they are supposed to do and should do.

Your duty to vote is an obligation of citizenship.

The challenge of growth, as indicated in the special census recently taken here, faces us. There is nothing to be gained by procrastinating. The arguments for the construction of the new school are overwhelming.

Nebraska Woman Named American Mother of 1957

New York, May 7 (AP)—Mrs. Hazel Hempel Abel of Lincoln, Neb., 68-year-old former U. S. senator and construction company president, was named American mother of 1957 today.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, president of the American Mothers Committee, Inc., at the opening of the group's annual Mother's Conference.

Mrs. Abel is a widow with five children — four daughters and one son. She has six grandsons. Mothers of the year from every state, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico competed for the national title. A committee jury chose the winner.

"Hazel Abel's work embraces many fields—church and religious organizations, education, civic and welfare groups, and above them all stands out her work with youth," said the announcement.

Missiles for Formosa

Taipei, Formosa, May 7 (AP)—The United States will bolster the Chinese Nationalist bastion of Formosa with matador guided missiles capable of carrying nuclear warheads, the U. S. embassy said today. The announcement said the U. S. Nationalist governments had agreed on the stationing of a missile-equipped U. S. Air Force unit on Formosa. It added that for months the Chinese Communists, who have vowed to take Formosa, have been building up their mainland offensive capabilities opposite the island.

Reds Shift Fleet

Oslo, May 7 (AP)—Authoritative Norwegian sources said today the Soviet Union is shifting warships from the Baltic Sea because it fears the vessels could be bottled up there easily in the event of war. The Reds also were said to feel their big Baltic naval bases might be too vulnerable to attack-bombers.

Housing Veto Hinted

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Hint of a presidential veto preceded House consideration today of a bill to expand mortgage credit and set up new home-buying preferences for war veterans. As House leaders called up the big one-package housing measure, Rep. Taft (R-Iowa) said a "bad bill" would be sure to invite a veto. But Taft and Republican leaders left no doubt they considered as a "bad bill" the measure sent to the House by the Democratic majority of the House Banking Committee.

Fireman Learns Body Recovered That of Wife

Asbury Park, N. J., May 7 (AP)—A fireman helped recover the body of a woman from Deal Lake today and discovered when he reached home later that she was his wife.

Herman Rohleder drives the fire department's aerial ladder truck. He was called out with other firemen when the body of a woman in night clothes was discovered in the lake on the north border of this resort. Rohleder never got a look at the body at the time. When he reached his home, he learned

REGIONAL DIRECTORS FOR ULSTER AND SULLIVAN COUNTIES meet with Francis Cardinal Spellman to discuss the 11th annual appeal of the Catholic Bishops' Fund for the needy overseas which finances the operations of Catholic Relief Services. The fund appeal will be held the week of May 12 and will culminate in an envelope collection in all Catholic Churches, May 19. Above, left to right, the Rev. John McGavick of St. Peter's Church, Monticello, Cardinal Spellman and the Rev. Joseph F. Blake of St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz. Also directing the appeal in these counties is Right Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury of St. Mary's, Kingston, who is honorary county chairman for the appeal.

civil servants dread giving up the bright lights of Moscow.

During deliberations in the next few days the legislators will approve the administrative resolution drafted by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev. The plan completely revamps the monolithic economic structure the Kremlin built up over the last 40-years.

Councils to Take Over

Until now, the Soviet economy has been directed by several dozen big ministries in Moscow. The new plan calls for a territorial system of organization. The central government will still set the broad lines of policy and planning, control prices and wages, allocate scarce materials and check production by each region.

But economic councils of the various administrative-economic regions of the Soviet Union will take over planning for local production and supervision of local performance, cutting many of the administrative strings that now lead back to Moscow.

Approval Is Certain

The plan's approval by the more than 1,300 members of the Supreme Soviet Union is certain. But the plan itself will take months and possibly years to realize fully. When and if it is completely achieved, it will give a new face to communism in operation in the Soviet Union. Many government ministers ultimately will be abolished or have their functions trimmed. This plan represents the biggest revision of Soviet economic since Stalin collectivized the farms nearly 30 years ago. Since Khrushchev announced it in March, it has been the major topic of discussion in Communist party groups, factories and institutions of higher learning and by the press and radio. Some differences of opinion have developed over details but not over the conception as a whole.

what he thought were differences between the 1920s and now.

"One of the main differences, as I see it," Lovejoy said, "is that the Federal Reserve Board has more know-how today in the management of out money markets x x x back in the 1920s the federal reserve was clumsy. That is not the case today."

Lovejoy added, however, that all the board can do is "to influence the way business is going, they can't stop the ground swells."

Lovejoy said "there is some sign of easing in long-term money rates during the half of the year (and) it is my guess that there could be some easing in mortgage rates, too."

Bad Shortage Due

In his prepared address, Goodyear asserted "if home building is not unshackled now, the 1960s will see the worst housing shortage in all our history."

"Wedding bells are ringing louder than the carpenters hammer," he said. "About 1,600,000 young couples are getting married each year and we are producing fewer than 900,000 new homes to house them."

By 1965, he predicted, "our population will hit a new high of 193 million and there will be no postponing of the storm."

Parents Held for Mail Swindle of Lonely

New York, May 7 (AP)—Postal authorities accused a 54-year-old father of using nude snapshots of his teenage daughter to swindle lonely men.

Harreth Butler Henry was charged yesterday with using the mails to defraud. His wife, Cleo, seized last April 5, is being held on the same charge.

Asst. U. S. Atty. David Jaffe said the couple mailed nude pictures of their 17-year-old daughter to men whose names they found on "Lonely Hearts" lists. The pictures allegedly were accompanied by requests for money that the girl was supposed to use to visit the men.

Jaffe said Henry and his wife netted at least $20 a month in the scheme. The name of the daughter was not disclosed.

Kennedy Wins Pulitzer

New York, May 7 (AP)—The late dramatist Eugene O'Neill has won his fourth Pulitzer prize and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) has won the first ever bestowed on a member of Congress. The awards were among 14 Pulitzer prizes in letters, journalism and music announced yesterday by the trustees of Columbia University. O'Neill received the drama award posthumously for his autobiographical play "Long Day's Journey Into Night." It is a current Broadway hit. The biography prize went to Kennedy, 39-year-old Massachusetts Democrat, for his "Profiles in Courage." The book is a study of political integrity as exemplified by selected U. S. politicians, some famed and some obscure.

Nats Fire Dessen

Detroit, May 7 (AP)—Charlie Dessen was fired today as manager of the Washington Senators and third base coach Henry Arthur (Cookie) Lavagetto was named to succeed him. An informed source disclosed the management change just as the Washington ball club called a new conference to make the formal announcement. There was no immediate indication of what Dessen's baseball future would be.

Albany, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—A dairy farmer who admitted the $177 holdup of a loan company to buy food for his family and livestock was given a suspended sentence and put on probation

Monday. Regis J. Chauvot, 31, of Berne, had pleaded guilty to first-degree robbery in the March 7 holdup of the Upstate Loan Co. of Elmsmere. He said his wife, Genevieve, had waited outside in his car, not knowing his intentions. Judge Martin Schenck of Albany County Court said he had received letters from 218 persons urging leniency. Chauvot said he had been driven to desperation by $22,000 in debts.

Glens Falls, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—The bodies of two fishermen were recovered last night from the Hudson river. Both were drowned in a boating accident Saturday night.

The victims were Erle Ford-rung, 21, and Richard Sheerer, 31, both of West Glens Falls. They were employed in the Sears Roebuck store in Glens Falls.

The two men and Sheerer's father, William, 57, of South Glens Falls, were in a homemade boat that capsized. The father clung to the boat and was rescued.

Camden, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—Gerald C. Carpenter, about 50, of Richland, was killed last night when his automobile struck a tree and overturned seven miles west of this Oneida county community.

The accident occurred on Route 285 near Florence.

Glens Falls, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—Dr. Burke Diefendorf, retired state health officer for the Glens Falls district, died Sunday night in Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo. He was 70.

Dr. Diefendorf retired April 1. He had been associated with the state health department for 25 years.

He was a former resident of Columbia county. He had served as chairman of the Columbia county board of supervisors, president of the county medical society, health officer for four towns, and coroner and town clerk in the town of Copake.

Troy, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—Two brothers who were wounded by a single police bullet and a companion have pleaded guilty to grand larceny and burglary charges in connection with a tavern break.

Claudio Barrera, 26; his brother, Armando, 27; and Alfred Galan, 26, all of Albany, were accused of taking $1,019 from the safe of the tavern in Troy's south end. They pleaded guilty yesterday.

The brothers were shot by a policeman after he surprised them in the tavern last Nov. 1. Galan was arrested a short time later.

Judge DeForest C. Pitt of Rensselaer county court set May 20 for sentencing.

Oswego, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—State police today sought a gunman who robbed the manager of a club of $1,103 in weekend receipts late last night.

Charles P. Frawley, 34, manager of the Dante Alighieri Club, told police the gunman forced him to face a wall while he took the money from a cigar box.

Police said an accomplice waited in an automobile.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—Authorities in suburban Kenmore waited in curiosity today to see if Eugene McGroder, escaped prisoner, was as good as his word.

McGroder, 24, left his cell in police headquarters last night unknown to police, then telephoned a startled Capt. Harold Clark about three hours later to ask what time he should be in court in the morning.

He was arrested yesterday afternoon on a petty larceny charge.

He asked Clark "what time is court in the morning?" Clark told him "nine o'clock." "I'll be there," Mc Groder promised.

Clark said the prisoner, who lives in Buffalo, told him he had simply found the cell door open and walked out.

He was the only prisoner in the three-cell block.

Reported in fair condition were: Brian J. Unger, 10, Linda Danner, 9, Mary Jane Jakubczak, 8, and James M. Flynn, 9. They were part of a group of about 20 children scattered by the truck as they waited to cross Humboldt Parkway during noon recess.

Adult Students Display Articles In Saugerties

Numerous articles made by members of the adult education classes of Saugerties Central School were displayed in the Main Street School auditorium during the Education Week program May 3. The articles showed well-developed skills in which the adult students had been trained in their classes.

The display included hooked rugs, clothing, knitted garments, metal products, wood products, photographs, ceramic articles, interior decorating goods, driver education equipment and medical aid equipment. Other courses which have been offered this year which could not be displayed were English for foreign born adults, German, mental health, orchestra, and typing.

The exhibit was visited by a great number of people who commented favorably on the progress shown in the adult classes. Among the visitors was A. T. Houghton, regional supervisor of adult education, New York State Department of Education. He was favorably impressed with the adult education accomplishment and praised the school officials for the work being done.

a science teacher at the Hazleton (Pa.) High School, during part of which time he was head of the Science Dept. He is also a devout Christian and in much demand at Bible conferences and Christian youth meetings, being greatly used by the Lord in encouraging and strengthening young people whose faith in the Scriptures is weakened and often undermined by contact with pseudo-scientific theories which contradict the Bible.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend these meetings, and young people who want to know how a Christian science teacher finds a reconciliation between the Bible and true science are especially urged to come.

COMMUNITY CONCERTS

Growth and expansion all around us elicits many expressions that we are fast taking on the appearances of a metropolis. This idea may be new to many, but we point with pride to one group in our city which has been bringing metropolitan artistic life to Kingston for 28 years.

The Community Concert Association's roster of national and international stars, who have appeared in Kingston, is studied with the most famous of the day. Richard Crooks, Nelson Eddy are among the first followed by Helen Olheim, Rose Bampton, Helen Jepson, Igor Gorin, Iturbi, Malcuzyński, Istomin, Arrau, Whitemore and Lowe, Nadine Conner, Mildred Miller, Carrol Glenn, Eleanor Steber, Robert Shaw Chorale, Boston Pops with Fiedler, Cleveland Symphony, National Symphony down to the last concert, April 8, of the New York Philharmonic Symphony with Mitropoulos.

All of these and we hope there will be many more, have come to Kingston without loss or profit locally. The Community Concert plan is the practical system of handling concerts. It calls for recruiting memberships and then buying the talent for the coming season.

This is the week to join the association for attendance at next season's series which will include among three concerts, the NBC Opera Company's presentation of "Madam Butterfly." Only memberships entitle you to attend the programs and these may be obtained from workers or at the Governor Clinton Hotel before noon Saturday.

All concerts will be held at Community Theatre, Broadway, where the local group met for the first time this past season. The move from the high school was made to accommodate about 500 more people who desired to join. About 80 workers are busy this week to enroll another sell-out year.

MY DAD CAN LICK YOURS

Carl Furrillo, Brooklyn Dodger right fielder, declared that the Milwaukee Braves are still not hungry enough to win the National League pennant this year. "Sounds to me like they're running scared," retorted Warren Spahn, Braves pitcher.

And all the way from Dayton, Ohio to Lexington, Ky., baseball fans are laughing. For in that area, the fans do not care what the Braves and Dodgers say, as long as they knock one another out cold. The fans from Dayton to Lexington know who will win; they say Birdie Tebbets and the Cincinnati Reds.

ATTACK ON SURPLUSES

An Agriculture Department executive declares that political price support programs are merely stopgap measures and that science will figure out how to end farm surplus difficulties. This would be by discovering and developing new uses for farm produce.

The record of fabulous achievements by American scientists wherever they have applied themselves gives assurance that they are more than capable of handling the agriculture problem. The essential ingredients are time and money for research.

In Sweden, if the Ministry of Justice's new proposal goes through, no adult woman will be called Miss. All will be Mrs. The change is inspired by the fact that all men are Mr., whether married or not. Why, the argument runs, should not this practice be applied to women?

There is reported to be a shortage of high grade third basemen in the American league. For that matter, there is never an over-supply of men qualified to star at the hot spots in business, politics or any other field of competition.

Note to anyone who thinks baseball is merely a game: This year sponsors will spend nearly 32 million dollars for the telecasting and broadcasting of the big league ball games, including the all-star game and the world series.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
ALGER HISS' BOOK

I approached Alger Hiss' book "In the Court of Public Opinion" with as much objectivity as I could muster because Hiss is entitled to his day in the court of public opinion as he was in the court of law.

I did not therefore compare his statements with those of Whittaker Chambers or de Toledano and Lasker's "Seeds of Treason," or the two versions authored by Earl Jowitt, a British lawyer turned journalist.

Instead, I took the 24-page opinion of Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, an outstanding jurist before whom Hiss appeared and who denied the motion for a new trial on July 22, 1952.

Concerning this decision, Hiss says: "... Judge Goddard denied the motion for a new trial on June 22, during the sessions of the Democratic Convention that was to nominate Adlai E. Stevenson, who had been one of my character witnesses. Judge Goddard's decision reached the press before it reached my counsel, and when Mr. Lane applied at the courthouse for the opinion, he found that all copies had been distributed already."

It would seem from this statement that Alger Hiss has written a lawyer's brief designed to lay the foundation for a new trial. Were Judge Goddard a youngster, deep in politics, it would be possible to ponder the legitimacy of Alger Hiss' indirect charge of bias. Judge Goddard, however, was a man of outstanding reputation, having been appointed to the court in 1923 and sitting continuously until his death in 1955. At the time of this decision in the Hiss Case, he was 76 years old. To assume that he would choose to end his long and honorable judicial career in the mire of bias is an absurdity which can do Hiss no good.

The issue was whether Hiss' lawyer had discovered any new evidence to justify a new trial, after Hiss had had two trials, one which ended in a hung jury; the second of which brought him a conviction. Goddard stated the charges against Hiss as follows:

"... The first count charged him with perjury when he testified under oath that he had never, nor had his wife in his presence, turned over any documents of the State Department or of any other Government organization, or copies of such documents, to Whittaker Chambers or to any other unauthorized person. The second count charged him with perjury when he testified that he thought he could definitely say that he did not see Chambers after January 1, 1937."

The new book addresses itself to these issues and it is difficult to find any data in the book which is not answered in the Goddard decision, although it is intended that one should find it because on a near to blank page, inevitably attracting attention, the reproductions of material offered as evidence on the motion for a new trial will be found following page 374."

Concerning new evidence, Judge Goddard said:

"The federal courts have quite generally applied the rule announced in Berry vs. Georgia, 10 Ga. 511, requiring a party seeking a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence to show the following vital elements:

"(a) The evidence must be in fact, newly discovered, i.e. discovered since the trial; (b) facts must be alleged from which the court may infer diligence on the part of the movant; (c) the evidence relied on, must not be merely cumulative or impeaching; (d) it must be material to the issues involved; and (e) it must be such, and of such nature, as that, on a new trial, the newly discovered evidence would probably produce an acquittal."

Further, Judge Goddard says:

"The contention of the defendant is that under either rule he is entitled to another trial. On the contrary, I am of the opinion, after a full consideration of all the defendant has offered, that he is not entitled to a new trial. The defendant has submitted no proof, which would support a finding by a jury. There is no newly discovered evidence which would justify the conclusion that if it were presented to a jury, it would probably result in a verdict of acquittal."

The Hiss Case, like all such, will always be subject to dispute, many accepting his innocence and martyrdom; many regarding him as a proved spy. This book does not clear up the situation any more than John Foster Dulles' suppression of pertinent pages of the Yalta record helps Hiss. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
MIDDLE AGE MENTAL ILLNESS

Yesterday we were discussing mental health and two of the three groups of common mental disorders—schizophrenia which usually attacks people between 20 and 35 and, until recently, had doomed most of them to their best years in confinement—and the two closely related mental diseases of old age—hardening of the arteries of the brain and senile psychosis (the mental illness accompanying old age).

We now know also that children and teenagers have a higher incidence of mental illness than is commonly supposed. About 5,000 children and youths under 19 are admitted to state mental hospitals each year and at least 200,000 more children are treated for less serious disorders in mental health clinics. Unfortunately there is always a long waiting list for both institutions and clinics of which we have far too few.

What about middle age? This period, which has been relatively free of major mental breakdowns, is once more becoming a danger area. Involuntary psychosis which claims most of its victims between 45 and 58, has been steadily on the rise and now ranks fourth as a contributor to mental hospital cases. However, the disorder of early middle age (35 to 50) known as manic-depressive psychosis has shown a continuous decline and today accounts for only 3 per cent of new admissions.

Involuntary psychosis is the mental illness that comes at about the time of "change of life" and attacks five women for every two men. Involuntary has been defined as the process of decay or decline which occurs in the human constitution after middle life. Its symptoms are extreme depression and agitation, and very often hostility and suspicious delusions of persecution. Provided the sufferer can obtain early and adequate treatment, the recovery rate is about 65 per cent.

The victim of manic-depressive psychosis (a psychosis is a specialized mental disorder without known damage to any organ) shows opposite extremes of mood—the manic and the depressive and often alternate between the two. While in the manic phase, the victim is extremely excited and agitated. This phase may persist for days, weeks, or months, and then may switch suddenly to the opposite phase marked by depression, hostility, suspicion and delusions of persecution. The recovery rate is about 75 per cent.

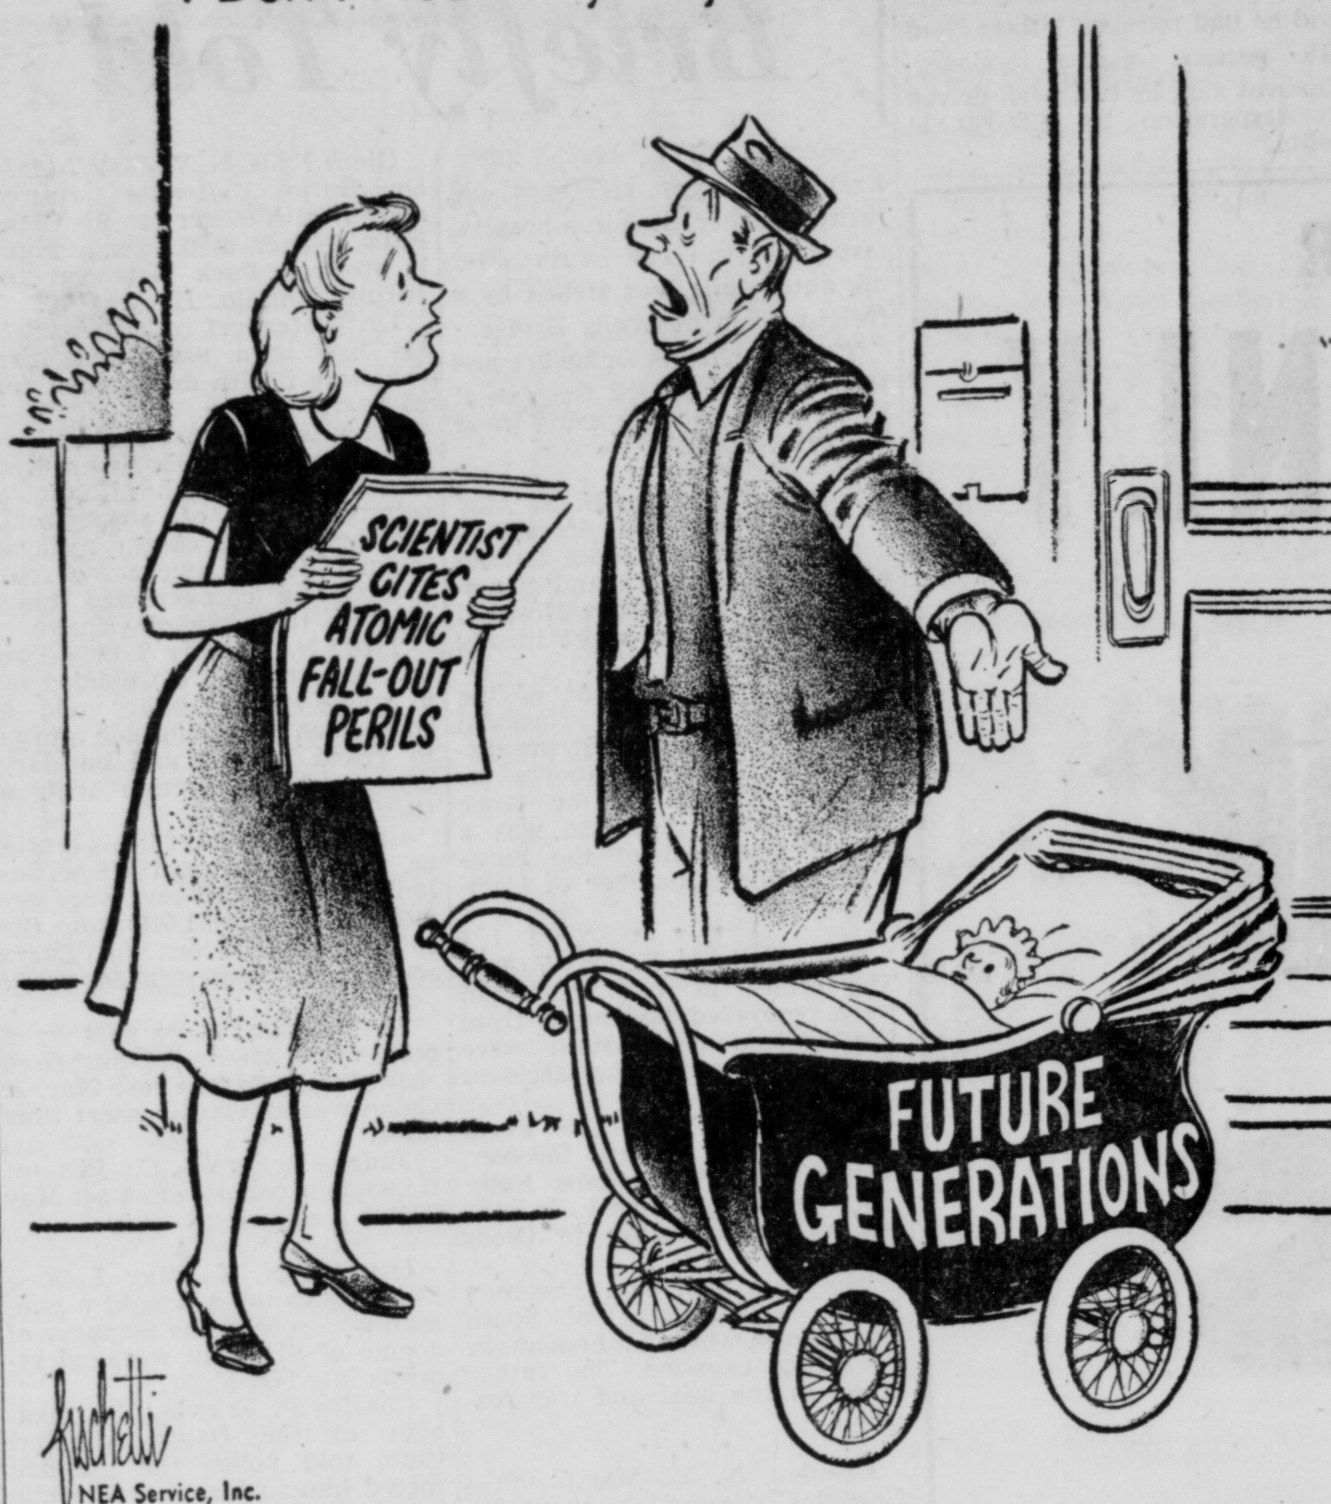

Another group of disorders, less severe than the psychoses but so widespread as to constitute a major drain on the nation's manpower and vitality, comprises the well-known neuroses. The neurotic individual, unlike the psychotic, does not lose touch with reality but responds to it with unrealistic attitudes which mar his personal relationships and cause acute suffering. While he may not require hospitalization and may even score outstanding success in his field, inner conflict, guilt, anxiety and even physical symptoms syphon off a large part of his energy which might otherwise go into building a productive and rewarding life.

"I Don't Hear Any Objections From Him"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has now made what is probably the shyest, most subtle, soft-shoe approach to a brand new farm program on record.

There may be method in his manner. He isn't sticking his neck out on any new farm plan, probably because he doesn't want to have his neck cut off—say at the ankles.

In this, he apparently wants to escape the fate of his predecessor, Democratic Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

It will be recalled that in 1949 Brannan put forward what became known as the Brannan Plan for righting what was wrong with U. S. agriculture.

President Truman urged its passage in his 1950 State of the Union message. But the Brannan Plan immediately became first priority duck on a rock for every Republican to heave dornicks at. The GOP succeeded in knocking off the Brannan Plan. They also ruined Brannan's later political ambitions.

ANYWAY, BENSON doesn't want anything like that to happen to him. So what he has done is write a long letter to Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

In great oversimplification it says that present farm programs and policies aren't working and they cost too much.

This could be the greatest understatement of the year. The secretary includes both Democratic and Republican farm policies in this condemnation. He says the Democratic price support and acreage allotment programs do not cut farm production enough and do not raise farm income. He admits that the GOP surplus disposal and soil bank program are the most expensive farm programs ever written—and that they don't do all they were supposed to, either.

Benson says the correction of this situation should be taken up as an economic problem and not as a political issue. He offers to consult with Congress on new policies.

THIS IS APPARENTLY an effort to get a bipartisan or non-partisan program. It would take the curse off any purely Democratic or Republican farm programs which would be subject to political smearing and defeat.

For specific recommendations to correct what Benson says is wrong, he only "hints at them," as he says. What he hints at is that the acreage reserve soil bank should be allowed to expire in 1959 and that price supports should be made much more flexible.

The implication is that the farm economy should be much freer of controls which make farm prices too high and farm income too low.

The theory seems to be that lower price supports with fewer controls would be a better means to curtail surplus production.

Benson says this new approach has been discussed with President Eisenhower and the cabinet "in a general way." This is taken to mean that the Administration has no very definite program of its own, although the issue was discussed for a full day with the secret Agricultural Advisory Council.

THE SECRETARY does not rule out the possibility of a new Eisenhower special farm message to Congress later on. But he says the Administration's responsibility is only "to point out the difficulties of the laws it must administer and to counsel with Congress regarding their solution." Nothing is said about the responsibility of the Administration to provide leadership.

Benson says there is no great hurry about correcting what's wrong with the farm program. He says the question of timing is up to Congress.

His hope is that a new program can be worked out early next year, but he would not object if a new program were worked out this year.

Though Benson apparently wants to minimize political considerations in working out new farm policy, they enter the picture unavoidably. A nonpartisan farm program might have a better chance of being worked out this year than next. For the congressional elections of 1958 would certainly mean that politicians would dominate any new farm laws written by Congress in that year.

Sensational News

In the context of The Times, this was sensational news. A 60-hour week was average in the garment industry then. At seasonal peak periods, people worked from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. Then they carried sewing machines home so they could continue at night.

Many were teen-age girls and children. Harpers Magazine printed a picture of a spindlegirl little girl going home, bent double beneath a load of unfinished garments.

Wages averaged between $3 and $6 a week. Out of this, in some cities, workers were required to pay for heat in the shops.

In New York, the law called for one lavatory for every 25 employees. Inspectors found shops

Today in National Affairs

Misinformation on Budget Blamed for Public Attack

Washington, May 7 — The amount of misinformation about the Federal budget circulating throughout the country is incredible—judging by the letters received by this correspondent and by many members of Congress.

Too many people do not know the difference between money "appropriated" or "authorized" for a given year and money actually spent in that next year.

Too many people now clamoring for tax reduction, in order theoretically to improve their individual or business incomes, do not know that under certain circumstances tax reduction could be as dangerous as excessive spending by the government.

Would Raise Prices

Too many people do not know that to reduce taxes in times of prosperity merely adds money that is used to drive prices upward as more consumers seek to buy the limit amount of goods available.

Too many people do not know that whatever they might save, through tax reduction could be eaten up and further drains imposed on their shrinking income if an inflationary price rise ensues.

Too many people do not know that military appropriations left over from previous years—work in process and under contract—can cause the government to spend more money this next year than the budget provides, even if Congress cuts "appropriations." That's what happened with the big "carryover" in the present fiscal year ending June 30 next.

Marshaling the Facts

So, in a complex situation of this kind, it is important for the public to get all the facts before swallowing either the line that the budget can be cut by a certain number of billions or that tax reduction can be achieved next January, as some of the politicians are already saying because they know it pleases the voters.

The first and most important point to be settled is whether tax reduction should come in times of prosperity. Most economists think it should not. They believe that the present—when there is a boom in consumer spending and prices are high—is no time to add fuel to the inflationary flames. The Democrats have always held to that philosophy, so it is a little surprising to see so many of their leaders in Congress promising a tax reduction for 1958 irrespective of what the situation may be on the inflationary front next January.

Business Called Good

The next point to establish is whether conditions are or are not prosperous today and whether any stimulus is needed. The evidence points all the way to high levels and that declines in auto purchases, for instance, are being offset by rises in other fields.

The May issue of the First National City Bank letter says that, "with employment and consumer incomes at new high levels, department store sales set a record for the Easter season."

Also the same authority says: "A new McGraw-Hill survey—suggesting that business men in the aggregate are tending to step up, not cut back, their capital spending plans for 1957 and the years beyond—both reflects and contributes to a confident view."

It is to be noted that, despite the setbacks in the federal highway program, spending by state and city governments on public works is increasing. Rather significantly, the bank letter adds: "But whereas in 1955 consumer expenditures and home buying were features of the recovery, and last year business capital investment made a notable upsurge, now government spending is taking over a major role in the business advance."

Backlog Contracts

This means also that the backlog of armament contracts from previous years—bombers now coming into production and other weapons currently in the "pipeline"—is helping to bring about the competition for available goods and services. There is no way to regulate this except to find some inexpensive and miraculous way of abolishing the Kremlin and its menace.

With population growing and civilian demands increasing, and with the constant need for replacing worn-out plant and modernizing factory equipment, the national economy has a certain momentum today, but, if suddenly arrested by meat-axe methods, "recession" and even a "depression" can be precipitated.

The Federal Reserve Board is keeping its restraint on lending, but even this has not yet produced a decrease in the supply of money or brought about a trend toward lower interest rates. On the contrary, the Federal government itself is still seeking lenders and is finding it necessary to pay higher interest rates than ever before for short-term borrowings.

Funds in Demand

Hence it is obvious that the demand for funds is still greater than the supply. It is unlikely that actual government spending will decline so as to cause the flow of many billions of dollars of income to the public to stop. If, nevertheless, taxes are reduced, the new income to individuals and to business will be used to bid up prices for goods wanted and will add to the total spending.

Tax reduction is a proper stimulus in hard times. It becomes a stimulus to inflation and rising prices in boom times. When will the boom times stop, and hard times begin? Who wants to start a chain reaction toward a "recession"? Which party in Congress will take responsibility for it?

These are the vexing questions on which the people need to be informed before they can line up for budget reduction, irrespective of what is cut or tax reduction, irrespective of when it is to be made effective. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Labor at the Crossroads:

Management-Union Story Is One of Extremes, Excesses

(Editor's Note: Labor had a tough struggle in its early years, but it grew to strength, wealth and immense influence. Has it become too strong? Is the pendulum likely to swing back? This is the second of five articles on the labor-management relationship.)

By RELMAN MORIN

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, chairman of the Senate committee investigating labor and management practices, describes a "pendulum of extremes and excesses" in their relations.

He recalls the days when the unions were young and weak. To see that period at close range—

On the morning of July 2, 1910, New York newspapers published a startling story. They reported that the Ladies' Waistmakers Union had won a 52-hour work week.

Doors Kept Locked

On a windy spring day, 154 people died when fire broke out in a clothes shop. A girl named Rosey Safran said, "they had the doors locked all the time." About a third of the victims jumped to death from the eighth floor of the building.

That was one industry. But in many others, death came out of working conditions and the strife growing from demands to correct them. It went into the mines and factories, attended strikers' meetings, and even came home with them.

Men were beaten and shot to death, and there were riots, martial law, calls for troops during strikes. Gangs like the "Molly Maguires" of Pennsylvania moved into the picture.

Gangsters on Both Sides

Gangsters worked both sides of the street in the bloody organizing wars in the New York dress industry some 30 years ago. The manufacturers hired "Legs" Diamonds to keep their shops nonunion. The unions lined up "Little Augie" Organ for picket line duty.

It developed that "Legs" and "Little Augie" were both in the employ of the same man—Arnold Rothstein, the gambling king.

Of those days, McClellan has said: "The avarice and greed of management and the exploitation of labor had become so prevalent and powerful that many industrial workers were reduced to a state of practically involuntary servitude."

Today, organized labor is big, strong, wealthy, and in many instances, highly sophisticated in its dealings with management.

Millions in Memberships

There are between 15 and 17 million men in American unions—an estimated one-fourth of the total working force.

A Senate labor subcommittee estimated last year that pension and welfare funds totaled more than 25 billion dollars. The figure is probably over 30 billion by now. It covers over 45 million dependents.

In Washington, the AFL-CIO headquarters has a new and beautiful building. In Detroit, the United Automobile Workers are enlarging their quarters around spacious "Solidarity House."

Grow in Wealth

The unions have gone far beyond the old fields of effort, the struggle over wages and working conditions.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers has its own banks and an insurance company for its members. It built a huge cooperative housing development, established health centers to provide medical care, gives scholarships for students wishing to specialize in industrial relations. With employer contributions, it has established a huge pension and retirement fund.

Testimony in the Senate about Teamster officials handling of pension funds has made them a white-hot object of scrutiny, in and out of organized labor ranks. A Senate committee last year found many unions made no reports of the money or only careless accounts.

ILG Reports Complete

But some publish meticulous yearly reports. The 1956 statement of the International Ladies (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

It was reported today by the Poughkeepsie Fire Department that the fire was still under investigation.

The buildings, with their huge doors opening on the river, were described as a "complete loss." A "good wind" made the situation even more difficult.

During the regatta, boat crews used to sleep in the buildings which also had showers, kitchens, racks for the boats, etc.

Hurley Petition

but no other officers such as inspectors of election or ballot clerks were elected by the meeting. It charges, "the said Nussbaum, without any vote of the meeting, and wholly without any authority from the meeting, appointed certain tellers, clerks and inspectors of election."

No Minutes Taken

"No minutes of said meeting were taken, recorded or filed as required by law, there was no list of the qualified voters of said school district and no means by which it could be determined that the persons seeking to vote were in fact qualified voters... no formal motion was made to submit to the voters the proposition for which the special meeting had been called, but that said proposition was submitted and that ballots were distributed and votes were taken without the formality of the proposition having been submitted to the meeting."

The petition for review alleges that "any person who came in to vote was given a ballot and no question was asked him as to whether he resided in the school district or was otherwise qualified to vote at the meeting."

No Way to Determine

"All that a person was asked to do was to sign his name in a register and cast his ballot," the petition states. It alleges that due to lack of a register it was impossible to determine at that time whether or not the persons who were given ballots were qualified voters or whether they were not.

"For the lack of a register and because no inquiry was made of the voter as to whether he was qualified, it was impossible for anyone to challenge the vote," it continues.

No Identification

The petition alleges over 30 persons were given ballots and permitted to vote who were non-residents or otherwise lacked qualifications to vote. Since no minutes were kept of the meeting, petitioners allege it is impossible for petitioners to identify with accuracy at this time, the names of those persons who voted illegally or lacked other qualifications.

Petitioners through their attorney, Charles Gaffney, "sought an order from the Commissioner of Education to permit examination of the ballots and records of the meeting but the Commissioner of Education has declined to make such an order until this appeal has been taken and filed," the appeal papers state.

Called Not Qualified

However, the appeal papers contain the names of certain persons who it is claimed are not qualified voters but who were given ballots. Those named are:

Nathan Parnett, Eva Salvucci, Domenico E. Salvucci, Mildred W. Breze, Arthur E. Snyder, David Dodd, Joseph Panchak and Dorothy Panchak, Mathilda Ziegler, Charles Bading, Helen S. Bading, Mrs. Jack Cervantes, Fannie Parnett, Mathilda Brunner, Luella S. Dana, Frank Garrison.

The petition alleged certain "illegal acts committed without objection on the part of the chairman. Among other things District Superintendent Reginald Bennett who is supposed to maintain a position of strict neutrality in such matters, was openly and continuously soliciting votes in favor of the proposition and such solicitation was taking place in the very room where the election was being conducted."

Complain About Signs

It is also alleged large signs "soliciting votes on behalf of the proposition" were permitted to remain in the room during the election.

Votes were counted by inspectors "who were appointed in the illegal fashion" and the results announced were number of votes cast 313; "Yes" 161; "No" votes 143 and there were eight void ballots and one blank. The proposition prevailed by a plurality of 18 votes. "Since the total valid votes as announced was 34, a legal majority should be 153 votes so that it would appear, accepting the results as given, that the proposition prevails by 8 votes more than the necessary legal majority."

The petitioners allege that the "illegally appointed inspectors of election, including the non-resident of the district, Brookington who served as one of such, reported that 8 ballots were voided." It is alleged these ballots, on information and belief, were not void and were valid ballots which should have been counted against the proposal.

The petitioners seek to be given an opportunity to inspect these ballots and point out in what particulars they were in fact valid.

It is also alleged by petitioners that supporters for annexation "openly solicited the vote of many non-residents and encouraged them to come to the meeting and vote in favor of the proposition notwithstanding that it was well known that such persons were non-residents of the district and not qualified to vote."

On all of the facts the petitioners ask the proceedings be set aside and another special election date set and further that the Commissioner of Education open the record of the April 6 meeting for inspection of petitioners so they may be in a position to demonstrate the irregularities more fully than described in their petition.

The petition is signed by Thomas M. McNally, Loretta McNally, Ira N. Saxe, Mary Elizabeth Saxe, Marjorie Anderson, Fred Craft, Lorraine Craft, Ronald Gray, Alton Boyce, Elizabeth Boyce, Edward R. Dunn, Edward V. Riggio, Frances T. Vernon, Mabel E. Vernon and Norman Rice.

Costello Summoned Before Grand Jury

New York, May 7 (AP)—Frank Costello, who has maintained an air of bewildered innocence when questioned by police about the attempt to assassinate him, was slated to appear this afternoon before a Manhattan grand jury investigating the shooting.

A detective handed a subpoena to the 66-year-old ex-underworld boss last night at the door of his 18th-floor terrace apartment on Central Park West.

The decision to subpoena Costello was announced after a conference between Chief Asst. Atty. Alfred J. Scotti, head of the racketeers bureau, and Deputy Chief Police Inspector Edward W. Byrnes.

Byrnes is heading the police investigation of the attempted shooting of Costello in the lobby of his apartment house last Thursday night. A bullet from a .38 caliber pistol grazed his skull.

South had little trouble making his two spades. He trumped the third heart lead and went after trumps. West won the second lead with the ace and played a club.

Dummy's king won that lead and a diamond was played. West won with the ace and played a second club. Dummy's ace took this and a diamond was discarded.

Trumps were drawn and West made his nine of diamonds at the finish.

A quick look at the East and West hand shows that East could have made four hearts or maybe five. Both East and West must take blame for letting South steal the contract.

East's bidding was the same type of reasoning that causes the ostrich to bury his head in the sand so that the hunters won't see him.

East was pretty sure that he could make four hearts. He also could make four spades. He reasoned that if he bid again North and South would get to that spade game.

It never occurred to East that if North and South had a game they would bid it anyway. South still had a bid coming and would go on if his cards warranted such action.

When the bid came to West he acted like a rabbit. West had a mighty sound raise for his partner. He only held three hearts but an overall almost always shows at least a five-card suit so that was adequate trump support. Then West's two aces were real good cards. The worst that could happen if he had bid 'three hearts would be that East would go down a trick.

West should have taken that slight risk and bid three hearts. Then East would surely have pulled his head out of the sand and bid the game.

The Twin Cities Chorus, of St. Paul-Minneapolis, recently asked if anyone would donate a piano. They were given an upright weighing 1,100 pounds. The donor confessed he couldn't fit the piano through the front door of his new home.

Urges Vote for School

Editor, The Freeman
As the citizens of this community are about to express themselves on the matter of the proposed new school, I should like to say that I heartily urge an overwhelming vote in favor of the new school.

No discerning person can doubt the inevitable growth of our school population. Our young people need and deserve every possible educational facility which they cannot receive under increasingly crowded conditions. Unless there is a new school the educational facilities of our community will necessarily have to be curtailed. With the increasing need for trained and creasing people in our age of anxiety and pressure, any contraction of our educational opportunities is short sighted indeed.

Our youth deserve and have a right to expect the best from us. Education is our most profitable investment and yields the highest dividend in our spiritual and material income.

A decision in favor of the new school means a vote of confidence in our youth, our Nation and our future.

Sincerely yours,
RABBI HERBERT I. BLOOM

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many folks noticed an article in the resort section of Sunday, April 28, New York Times called "Kingston at Home." I got a copy of it from Mrs. Samuel Ruchman of 14 Spring street.

It seems Leon Berton, the writer shows New York city residents the possibility of making a tour of the Hudson valley by making Kingston the objective in a Sunday outing. He writes in part: The route would be up the Parkways to Lafayetteville, where State Route 199 leads west toward Rhinecliff . . . the drive across the new bridge, toll being only 25 cents, one gets a fine panoramic view of the foothills of the Catskills and the Shawangunks.

After visiting Kingston, the return trip is a 90 mile drive down the Thruway and back into Manhattan.

While in Kingston it seems he visited the Senate House Museum. He gives Kingston credit for being the first capital of New York state. In Kingston the first Legislature met; the first Chief Justice presided; the first governor took the oath of office and the first State Constitution was signed. It seems he saw the original deed compacted with the Indians for Kingston on June 5, 1652.

He went around the Museum and admired the John Vanderlyn paintings, also the memorabilia of General George Henry Sharpe, Civil War aide to General Grant. He also saw a pass to General Sharpe, given to him by General Robert Lee, to go from Apomattox to the Union lines. He further tells about Kingston being one of the historic Hudson river crossing points.

"In pre-Revolutionary America, the settlers relied on Indian log dugouts and birchbark canoes for river transportation." Wouldn't those settlers and Indians be astounded by the present Hudson river bridge.

He further writes: "It was on August 5, 1752, that George Clinton, first governor of New York, gave a charter to Moses Cantine of Esopus (Kingston) and Abraham Kip of Rhinebeck to operate a "periauger," propelled by "arm strong motor" or sail." "In 1790 the Elmendorf family took over the route and later introduced steam-propelled vessels.

The first ferry was the Knickerbocker, in 1845; then the Osceola, the Rhine in 1852, and the Lark in 1860. In 1852, when the New York Central first made Rhinebeck a terminus, the ferry route was purchased by the Kingston-Rhinecliff Ferry Co. The landing spot was moved from Columbus Point to a slip a mile west, inside Rondout creek, for convenience. (Kingston Point was called Columbus Point years back. This ferry slip in the Rondout creek is now up for sale.)

He also tells about the days when ice covered the river in winter, and the ferry could not run, so horse-drawn sleighs carried passengers, until "modern ice breakers came along." The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge which cost almost $20,000,000 is a mile long and is supported by a series of piers. At its highest point it is 253 feet above the water. It is unlike the suspension bridges like George Washington, Bear Mountain and of course, Rondout creek bridge.

Management-Union Story

Garment Workers Union cover 15 large pages. It lists all officers' salaries and breaks down expenditures to the smallest items, even stationary and postage.

All this—the growth in size, influence and wealth—stems largely from legislation passed in the 1930s. Labor soared on the wings of the National Industrial Recovery Act, guaranteeing its right to organize; the Norris-LaGuardia Act, limiting the use of injunctions in labor disputes; the Wage and Hour Law, and the Wagner Act.

New Problems Crop Up
With new bigness came new problems.

Through sheer pressure of business, officers in the big unions grew farther away from the rank and file. They left room for rigged elections on the level of the local. Instances where none at all were held for years.

Apathy was another problem. Today, union officials say, attendance at local meetings often falls as low as five per cent of the membership.

"We are suffering from our own success," a top official said.

'Paper Locals' Start
"Paper Locals"—Charters for nonexistent unions—came into being. Racketeers used them for extortion, particularly against small business establishments and those handling perishable foods.

Then there was the jurisdictional strike. UAW President Walter Reuther assailed two building trades unions in Flint, Mich., which "had their business

Have Left Macao

Macao, May 7 (AP)—A high police official today said he is almost certain a missing American businessman and his family have gone to Red China. The official, who refused to be quoted by name, said he is definitely satisfied Donald J. Blackwood, 25, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Seoul, his Korean wife and their 8-month-old son are not in Macao. He added there was no other place for them to have gone but Red China. The family dropped from sight April 27, leaving behind an unpaid hotel bill and two suitcases. They had been due in Hong Kong, 40 miles away, the next day but did not arrive.

Show Big Gains

New York, May 7 (AP)—Suburban Nassau and Rockland counties have shown big population gains since 1950. They will therefore receive more state funds. Results of a special census showed yesterday that Nassau's population has jumped 75 per cent since 1950. The county population now totals 1,178,075. That compares with 672,765 seven years ago. The present population in Rockland is 113,680, as against 89,276 in 1950.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 7, 1957

Witnesses to Hold
Parley in Vermont
From May 17-19

H. D. Trapp, traveling representative of the Watchtower Society announced that New York Circuit 5 of Jehovah's witnesses will hold its semi-annual convention in the Community Building in Brattleboro, Vt., May 17-19. The local congregation is one of 22 congregations making up New York 5. Ernest Kidd, presiding minister of the congregation, said that 40 from the area would be among the more than 1,000 delegates to attend the Brattleboro gathering.

Twenty-one departments of volunteers have already begun preliminary arrangements to provide a cafeteria, parking, rooming accommodations, first aid, and a host of other details that will ensure a comfortable and beneficial Christian gathering. Convention officials estimated that by the opening day of the assembly May 17, about 275 individuals will be associated with the various departments of volunteer work.

"This method of taking care of the needs of convention delegates not only saves money, but it promotes Christian love and understanding among the brothers," observed F. J. Qua, in charge of public relations for New York Circuit 5. "Throughout the world the unity of Jehovah's witnesses, and their ability to cope with language, racial, and color barriers has been noted. The common cause of a gathering such as this, is one of the motivating factors for the love and unity found among the witnesses," he pointed out.

The climax of the three-day convention will be the Bible lecture, "Removing the Barriers Dividing Mankind." A. A. Catanzaro, district supervisor for the Watchtower Society, will give the lecture Sunday, May 19, at 3 p. m. The press and radio in Brattleboro have been asked to extend an invitation to the residents of Brattleboro and its surrounding environs. All sessions will be free of charge and open to the public.

Britain Ousts Envoy

London, May 7 (AP)—The British government today accused a Romanian diplomat of trying to recruit spies in Britain and gave him a week to get out of the country. The Foreign Office said the diplomat is Eugen Perianu, an attaché at the Romanian legation since August 1951. Perianu was accused of "putting pressure on persons who are of Romanian origin or who have relatives in Romania in attempts to recruit them as spies."

Three Die in Fire

Williamson, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—Two Negro farm workers and a child perished today in a labor camp blaze that destroyed a small frame dwelling. The dead were identified as Jesse Fulworth, 36; Robert Wright, 52, and Rufus Hunter, 11. Retired Civil Service Workers
To Meet May 11

The next regular meeting of the Ulster County Chapter 461, National Association of Retired Civil Employees, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, May 11, at the YWCA, 209 Clinton avenue.

William J. Cipolli, publicity officer, said today that the chapter was seeking new members and urged all interested persons to attend.

He called attention to a number of bills pending in Congress of interest to retired civil employees, several of which would increase retirement annuities. Calling attention also to the rising cost of living, Mr. Cipolli said that many industries had acknowledged the increases by raising the pay of their employees. "Did our representatives take this attitude and give us a nod in increase? Of course not." He cautioned that it was recently proposed to combine the civil employees retirement fund with social security.

He said that "by all reports" there was a good chance of getting some kind of legislation beneficial to widows. "Again we invite all widows in this category to come in and join us in our effort in your behalf."

He said that other chapters throughout the country were making great strides.

He said the membership of the organization was now 91,000 but that the mortality rate was high so that it was important to "keep plugging for new members. There are so many advantages to be had if everyone will put his shoulder to the wheel."

Mr. Cipolli pointed out that the new hospitalization plan was now in effect and that policies had been received by those eligible.

RAP QUEEN—London's mass circulation Sunday Pictorial, in a front page story, sharply criticized Queen Elizabeth for going to the races too often, and suggested many Britons disapprove of her avid interest in a sport connected with gambling. An exhibition was on display in every room last week, as will be the case on Friday of this week. Exhibitions included charts, drawings, and other projects, as well as folders of written material completed by the pupils.

Combined with the public school exhibition was an adult education display in the auditorium by various adult classes.

Marine Causes Ruckus

Jakarta, Indonesia, May 7 (AP)—A U. S. marine created a ruckus yesterday by going around tearing down flags the Indonesians had put up in honor of the state visit of Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov. The U. S. embassy announced today it had apologized to the Foreign Ministry and had ordered the marine, whose name is being withheld by officials of all sides, to leave the country. The marine was a member of the embassy's armed guard. Western diplomatic sources said they feared the Communist press would blow the incident into a major insult against Voroshilov. They said the marine actually was guilty only of a "drunken prank" which had no political implications.

Area Church Women Hear Dr. Arnold

Dr. Henry J. Arnold, president emeritus of Hartwick College, Oneonta and secretary of the Aramaic Bible Society, spoke before a group of United Church Women on Friday, May 3, at St. James Methodist Church.

His topic was "A Churchman Looks at Public Education."

The greater Kingston area is involved in an earnest discussion of education and although the Council of United Church Women takes no organic part in these matters, they do manifest a constant interest in education and its impact on citizenship, a spokesman for the group informed the Freeman.

Following Dr. Arnold's talk in which he urged support of educational improvements, the group held a short business meeting. They voted unanimously against extending the 1 a. m. closing hour for establishments selling liquor.

Missions Praised

New York (AP)—The Ambassador from Bolivia to the United States has praised American mission schools in his country for producing democratic leaders. The Hon. Victor Andrade told a recent meeting of Protestant mission leaders gathered at the annual dinner of the Committee on Cooperation in Latin America: "Against an often turbulent political background, the steady influence of the American mission schools in my country has served to awaken the social consciousness of the people." He said the American Institute in La Paz, Bolivia, has been the main source of his country's democratic leaders. Their Christian training, he said, was largely responsible for many of the reforms undertaken in the "new Bolivia."

TAKING NEW NAME

A young woman writes me as follows: "I have always disliked my first name intensely. It is rather long and unusual and so I decided to drop it completely and use my middle name as my first name. However, my relatives insist upon calling me by my original name and it really irritates me. My parents think I am being unreasonable in expecting them to call me a name other than the one they have been used to calling me all my life. Am I wrong in expecting them to call me by the name I now use, and if not, how can I tactfully handle this situation?"

I think they are being very inconsiderate and they should call you by the name you like. If they do not, you could say, "Please don't call me by that name. I dislike it intensely" and then tell them the name you like.

Tippling in a Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I and four other couples went to dinner at a very nice restaurant recently. The total bill came to seventy-one dollars. The person who took care of the bill gave the waiter who served us an eleven-dollar tip and four dollars to the captain. The waiter was obviously not very pleased with the amount he received? Will you please tell us if this tip was sufficient?

Answer: The amount you gave was quite sufficient and the waiter had no cause to be displeased. If the captain took pains to give you good service, if he did nothing for you, no tip was necessary.

The White Dinner Coat

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married the end of May and would like the men in the wedding party to wear white dinner jackets. I have been told that it is much too early for them. Will you please tell me? Answer: The very end of May should not be too early for white dinner jackets.

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions on wedding procedure are answered in leaflet E-2, "Wedding Procedure." To obtain a copy, send 10 cent in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

High School Rallies for 8 Runs in 6th to Down Middies, 14-4

Maroon Leads Loop

Beadle, Short Combine For Six-Hitter

An eight-run uprising in the sixth inning in which 11 batters came to the plate sparkplugged Kingston High to a whopping 14-4 victory over Middletown High and lifted the Maroons into undisputed possession of first place in the DUSO League yesterday at the Mid-City.

The score was locked in a 4-4 tie when the locals suddenly erupted and turned the game into a runaway. The victory was their second in as many DUSO starts and put them ahead of Newburgh Free Academy which was idle in the loop.

An error on Bill Cragan's roller by shortstop Mike Cohen opened the way in the bust 'em up inning. After Cragan stole second, Bill Chase scored him with a single and KHS was on top for good.

Then followed singles by Hobie Armstrong and Joe Beaver and two walks. Back-to-back doubles by pitcher Bob Beadle and Don Krueger and Cragan's triple to center highlighted the rest of the rumpus. Cragan tried to stretch his three-bagger into a homer but was nipped at the plate.

KHS Pitching Good
KHS's late power overshadowed some handsome hurling by Beadle and reliever Bob Short. Beadle retired after the first frame with the victory in his pocket and Short flipped one-hit ball over the last two rounds.

The Middies tapped Beadle for all their runs in the second, but were held in a tight grip after that. The young southpaw, who was making his varsity start, throttled them on two hits and only allowed two runners to reach base after the rocky second. He finished with three strikeouts and issued the same number of walks.

Kingston scored three unearned runs in the third to break the ice and get back into the game. Fortunately, the Middies made four of their game total of six errors in that inning as the Maroons failed to get a safe hit.

In the fifth, the locals tied it thanks to some great base stealing by Armstrong. Hobie walked to start things and then swiped second and third, the last bag standing up, no less. He counted on an infield out.

Kingston got a pair of meaningless runs in the last frame on two walks, an error and singles by Beaver and Short.

Tom Clarke was charged with the defeat. He departed in the midst of the sixth inning out-break. Tom Slover and Dick Lundgren mopped up.

Thursday, the Maroons are at Newburgh for a vital test. Coach Al Gruner has named fireballer Renni Giannuzzi as his starting pitcher. Giannuzzi three-hit Port Jervis in his last start, fanning 15 in a masterful performance.

Wilt Headed For Trotters, Says Phog Allen

Buffalo, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—Dr. Forrest (Phog) Allen, retired basketball coach at the University of Kansas, says that Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain will be playing pro basketball with the Harlem Globe Trotters next season.

Allen, who brought Wilt to Kansas, answered with an emphatic "yes" when asked by a newsmen if Wilt would turn pro next season even though he has two years eligibility left at Kansas.

Allen was here to speak at a Canisius College athletic dinner last night at which Canisius announced that it would play Kansas for the first time next season on a home-and-home basis.

"Why," Allen said, "Wilt made more than $100,000 for the University of Kansas last year. He thinks it is time he made a little for himself. And he will get $20,000, not $15,000 when he turns pro. Why, you can't blame the boy, can you?"

Chamberlain has said that he had not talked with any one about leaving school and reportedly added: "Nobody knows what may happen between now and September."

Dick Harp, who succeeded Allen as Kansas coach and who was also here last night, said that "Wilt's statement would have to speak for itself."

Greg Britz, a junior from Rochester, was named Canisius basketball captain for next season.

The two others named are F. Alex Bell and James S. Lentz. Lentz was an assistant of Yovicsin's at Gettysburg last year.

Bell, former Villanova end, also is a high school coach at McHerrystown, Pa.

Port Tops Pioneers

Joe Molinaro dropped the first pitching decision of his high school career after 11 straight triumphs as Port Jervis High upstart defending champion Poughkeepsie High, 7-2, in the DUSO League yesterday at Port.

A three-run homer by Bill Decker and a solo circuit by Vince Pagano proved Molinaro's undoing. Decker's clout came in the fifth and snapped a 1-1 tie and put the game in deep freeze. Burly Pagano rapped his in the fourth to knot the score. The Red Raiders hammered over another trio in the sixth to make sure.

Devore Tosses 6-Hitter
Redheaded Russ Devore checked the Pioneers with a six-hitter as his club squared their loop mark at 1-1. He was tapped for runs in the first and last innings, but in between was tough to hit. He struck out just two and walked one.

Molinaro, also right-handed, allowed just five hits, fanned nine and passed three.

Poughkeepsie was making its first start in the loop after taking three consecutive non-league verdicts.

Nott Terrace Star in Relays

Eight of Area's Best Sprinters In Century Dash

Patrick Ottati, a 10.1 man in the 100-yard dash at Nott Terrace, the Schenectady track powerhouse, heads the field for the Invitational 100, highlight of the sixth annual Hudson Valley Relays at New Paltz Central school on Saturday, May 11.

Two other stickouts in the crack field include James Malzahn of Port Jervis, the 1956 DUSO champion and Joseph Gatusso of Suffern High Rockland county king pin at 100 and 220 yards.

Six more of the fastest scholastic sprinters in the Hudson valley district will vie for the special trophy award in this class.

Wappingers Falls Central has entered Harmon Boyd, a top Dutchess sprinter. Other entries include Robert Kelly, New Paltz; David Mahon, Cardinal Farley Military Academy; Edward Murphy, Croton-on-Hudson; Bill Zielman, Saugerties.

John Baxter of Red Hook will serve as alternate.

The field promises to be the fastest ever assembled at New Paltz. The meet record of 10.2 set by Tom Sutherland, of Arlington in 1953 and tied by Paul Collins of Mahopac in 1956 appears in jeopardy.

Track officials are predicting the largest entry in the meet's history, with more than 660 contestants, representing 34 schools. Both figures will set new records.

The entry of Nott Terrace in Class I adds prestige to the meet and will, of course, put greater pressure on the other schools.

Competing against Nott Terrace in the Class I group will be Arlington, Clarkstown, Newburgh Free Academy, North Junior High of Newburgh; Nyack, Port Jervis, South Junior High of Newburgh, Spring Valley and Wappingers Falls.

Class II schools include Beacon High, Goshen Central, Liberty, Monticello, Saugerties, Suffern, Tappan Zee and Walden High.

The bulk of the entries will be in Class III where the host school, New Paltz Central, vies against Cardinal Farley Military Academy, Carmel, Croton-Harmon, Haldane, Highland Falls, Hunter-Tannersville, Irvington, Marlboro, Millbrook Central, Oakwood, Ontario, Red Hook, Roeliff-Jansen, Tri-Valley of Grahamsville and Wallkill.

The total of 38 events will include relays at 440 yards for freshmen, 440 yards for varsity, 880 yards varsity, one mile varsity, two miles varsity, and 1 1/4 mile medley varsity. Field events consist of 180-yard low hurdles, 12-pound shot, discus, pole vault, running high jump and running broad jump. Each of these events will be conducted in three classes.

Class III includes schools having an enrollment of boys in grades 9-12 of 149 or less; Class II, schools having enrollments of 150-274; and Class I features schools of 275 boys and over.

The temper of veteran New York Giant fans is such these days that if they were to encounter Manager Bill Rigney in a dark alley . . . well, the Giants would need a new skipper the next day.

It was an ordeal for the latter day disciples of John McGraw to reconcile themselves to Leo Durocher's switch from Ebbets Field to the Polo Grounds. They survived Durocher but Rigney remains a vexing problem.

Rigney's maneuvers of strategy, or lack of them, have Giant fans blowing their collective gaskets.

"He's ruining Willie Mays," screams one contingent. He might be at that. Leo Durocher used simple psychology on Willie and made him the terror of the National League. The Lip merely said: "Willie, your the mostest." And Willie strode forth and tried to prove it. Human being what they are, some need specialized treatment. Some athletes must be driven, others coddled and still others have to be left alone to work out their own destinies. Willie Mays apparently is the kind of ballplayer that needs encouragement. Leo Durocher gave it to him at every turn.

Rigney hasn't bothered to give Mays any special treatment, even went out of his way to inform the world that henceforth and forever Willie Mays would be treated like any other ball player on the club.

To the purist this might seem like good sense. But if a guy can knock 50 home runs, drive in more than 100 and bat around .350, don't you think it's good business to cater to some of his whims? Rigney's theory says no. The end result is this: Since Durocher departed, Willie Mays hasn't been the same guy. Neither have the Giants.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Sure sign of spring is this note from a couple out-of-this-world kids:

"Last year my brother, C. Bruce Abrams and I (allan Abrams) broke six windows as a result of baseball practice. All the windows were in our house and garage and we paid for the damages out of our allowance. We broke our first window this year a few days ago. Now our baseball season is officially open." . . . The Abrams, 124 Wall street, Kingston. It must be painful to the kids to have to surrender their allowance money, but you have to admit they hit with power. . . . Fabian L. Russell, Dr. Rodney Ball, Henry Hartley, Edward Strohsahl and families have returned from Myrtle Beach, S. C., where the golfing foursome found ideal temperatures and conditions. . . . Ninety-four wild turkeys have been released in Ulster county by the state Conservation Department as part of the Department's experiment to establish wild turkeys in certain areas of the state. Forty birds were released in the Town of Woodstock; 15 in Olive, 15 in Rochester and 24 in Hardenbergh.

Man Who Gets Around:

The recent tribute to Fred Davi's wartime Waterbury Brasscos was incomplete due to lack of space at the moment. In addition to sponsoring those great teams and area squads for 30 years, the Kingston Colonial promoter and manager has been responsible for bringing numerous major league stars to Kingston for exhibition games and public appearances.

It started back in 1946 when Davi introduced George Stirmweiss, Al Cucinello and Don Savage to a YMCA dinner. Joe DiMaggio, Charlie Keller and Stirmweiss attended a Kingston Athletic Association all-star game. Lefty Gomez attended a KAA dinner at the Barn. Other major leaguers who visited Ditz Stadium under Fred's sponsorship include:

Gene Hermanski, Carl Furillo, Sid Gordon, Randy Gumpert, Buddy Kerr, Wes Westrum, Spec Shea, Johnny Pesky, Maury McDermott, Gil McDougald, Vic Raschi, Joey Jay, Walt Dropo, Jimmy Piersall, Mickey Grasso, Gene Woodling, Bob Porterfield and Ed Pellegrino. Let's face it, the guy has connections.

Set Shoemaker Down Till May 23

Louisville, Ky., May 7 (AP)—One of the biggest miscues in racing history has cost jockey Willie Shoemaker a 15-day suspension.

Churchill Downs suspended Shoemaker yesterday for "gross carelessness in misjudging the finish line in last Saturday's 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby."

Shoemaker's mount, Gallant Man, finished second in a photo finish to Calumet Farm's Iron Liege.

After the race, Shoemaker said he mistook the 16th pole for the finish line and eased up on his mount.

Officials at the Downs said their authority is limited to Kentucky, but, normally, all American tracks will honor the suspension, which goes into effect tomorrow.

Shoemaker agreed the action will keep him out of the Preakness at Baltimore's Pimlico track May 18. He added he had been assigned to ride Gallant Man in that race.

The suspension will keep him from riding until May 23.

Erceg Shines With 3-Hitter Over Highland

Jim Erceg pitched a sparkling three-hitter as Saugerties High's Sawyers ripped Highland High, 7-1, for their seventh straight win yesterday at Cantine Field.

The victory was the fifth in the UCL for Saugerties and boosted its lead over idle Ontario to one full game. The teams meet today at Boiceville in a vital contest.

Erceg's Fast Stuff

Erceg's fast stuff puzzled the visitors and they could only tap him for three scattered singles. The senior right-hander struck out nine and walked four. He lost his shutout in the third inning.

Out errors and a flock of passed balls by catcher Chuck Mazzetti ruined any chance of victory for Highland hurler Dave Burdash who pitched the complete game. He wound up with a total of three strikeouts and four passes.

Saugerties launched the scoring at the outset on an outfielder's dropped ball, a passed ball and Don Whitaker's run-tallying hit.

4-Run Outbreak

In the next frame, the Sawyers wrapped things up for good with four runs without benefit of a safe hit. Three walks, the same number of errors, and a couple of passed balls highlighted the outburst. Saugerties made its final pair in the sixth.

Bob Whitaker got the only extra base hit of the game—a double. Erceg and Rizzo each had two hits. Burdash granted eight in all.

Both teams executed one double play.

Frisco Repeats Bid for Dodgers

San Francisco, May 7 (AP)—San Francisco will make another bid for major league baseball Thursday when Mayor George Christopher flies to New York to meet Brooklyn Dodger president Walter O'Malley.

The mayor said his eastern trip "will be in the best interest . . . if we want major league baseball."

Christopher declined to speculate on a 10-team National League, a two-division league or shifting of franchise. He said O'Malley "has something in mind that is brand new."

The Dodger president has discussed west coast baseball with financiers and major league officials since his return to New York from Los Angeles last weekend, the mayor said, adding:

"He has impressed upon me that this trip is absolutely essential."

Christopher asserted three days ago that if Los Angeles gets a major league team, San Francisco "won't be far behind—There is an excellent chance for next year."

Nats Plan To Unload Dressen

Detroit, May 7 (AP)—Calvin Griffith said today he plans to relieve Charlie Dressen as manager of the last-place Washington Senators.

The Senators' president arrived on an early morning train after an overnight trip from Washington where he had been quoted as saying he planned "drastic changes" after the Senators lost eight straight games and 16 of their first 20.

Griffith at first refused to comment on a published report that he planned to fire the 58-year-old Dressen, now in his third season at the Senators' helm. Later he said "I don't know how the story got out—only a couple of people knew about it."

To Offer New Job

Asked further about the report that he would offer Dressen a job as assistant to the president, the Senators' president said:

"Everything will have to wait until I talk with Chuck. He may not want what I'm going to offer him. I may not even talk with him until after today's game."

The Senators were scheduled to open a three-game series against the Detroit Tigers this afternoon. Griffith said "You have to make some kind of a move when things are going as badly as they are for us right now—and you can't piddle around—you have to make the move fast."

Griffith said plans had been readied several days ago "to offer Chuck more of a job."

The Washington Post and Times Herald said last night it had learned that Griffith would put one of the club's coaches, either Billy Jurges or Cookie Lavagetto, in charge as Dressen's temporary replacement.

Asked if the club had anyone in mind for the job of managing the Senators—who haven't finished in the first division since 1946—Griffith replied:

"You always have someone specifically in mind when you make a move like this. We'll call a press conference when we're ready to make the move."

Dressen's first Washington club finished last in the 1955 American League race. The Senators climbed a notch to seventh last year. Currently they are nine and one-half games behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

The report caught Dressen completely by surprise as he awoke from a midnight flight early today from Kansas City, where his club dropped its eighth straight game yesterday 8-2. He said he had heard no grumblings and felt "Calvin would have notified me if he planned to discuss something like that."

Blue Devils Lead League

Reed's 3-Hitter, 2 Homers Pace Ellenville 12-0 Win

Pitcher Jim Reed was once again the whole show for Ellenville Central as he tossed a three-hit shutout and smashed a pair of two-run homers to pace the Blue Devils to a whopping 12-0 victory over Fallsburgh yesterday in the village DUSO League.

The slim junior right-hander, who flipped a no-hitter just a week ago against Monticello, racked up his third win as compared to one loss in leading the Devils to the top of the circuit. Ellenville, with one week of the loop season in the books, heads the four-team league with a 2-0 mark and boasts a 4-2 overall record.

Easy Prey

The Comets were easy prey for Coach Ron Anderson's charges as they dropped into a second place tie with Monticello with a 1-1 slate. They were limited to three meager singles and never seriously threatened to break the scoring ice.

Meantime, Reed and his mates were enjoying a field day at the plate. They collected 12 hits, five for extra bases, off loser Abe Kaufman and reliever Jack Allen.

Reed unloaded his first circuit in the opening frame and repeated the trick in the fourth. In between the blasts, he sandwiched two singles for a perfect 4-for-4 afternoon. He scored three times and was credited with 4 RBIs as he celebrated the biggest hitting day of his career.

Other Hitting Stars

Also starring at bat were third baseman Harry Finerow, who had a base-clearing double; catcher Tom Brown, who tripled and singled for two RBIs and second baseman Sam Painter, who singled twice, Charlie Kushner, a shortstop, weighed in with a three-bagger.

Getting back to Reed, he struck out 11, mostly on fast stuff, and passed five. All three of his victories have been complete jobs. His lone defeat was in relief and came at the hands of Port Jervis.

Ellenville rests for the remainder of the week and doesn't return to action until Monday when it treks to Liberty.

Falcons Jolt NYP Standings

(By The Associated Press)

The lower standing members of the NYP baseball league owe a debt of gratitude to the Jamestown Falcons today.

For, by clouting league-leading Wellsville 11-2 last night in the best Jack-the-Giant-Killer fashion, the Falcons advanced their standings in a night of general upsets.

Erie, tied with Jamestown for last place, beat fifth-place Bradford 5-3; sixth-place Batavia beat third place Olean 5-1; and fourth-place Corning beat second-place Elmira 3-1.

The Falcons at Wellsville had it pretty well sewed up after an eight-run second inning. Bob Flynn provided the inning's high point with a three-run homer.

At Bradford, Erie's Bob Rodgers fired a one-run homer in the fourth, a feat that was matched for Bradford by Don Pray in the same inning.

Corning's home victory was fashioned with the aid of two triples off the bat of Norm Bernard.

Pitcher Ted Budzik won his second of the season for Batavia. Budzik, his hurling a little wild, struck out 14 and walked 7.

Triplet Pitcher Fans 18 Batsmen

(By The Associated Press)

Wynn Hawkins tossed a neat four-hitter for the Reading Indians last night but lost a 1-0 game to Binghamton.

There were two reasons: A teammate's error and the brilliant pitching of his mound foe—Lefty Ed Dick, who struck out 18 Reading batters.

In the only other Eastern League game, the Springfield Giants found the home run range for the first time this season and defeated league-leading Schenectady 5-3.

Dick's fast ball and changes of speed had the Reading batters swinging at the air. He set Reading down in order in the first, fifth, seventh and eighth innings.

A passenger in a plane sat relaxed at a window drinking in the spectacle of the heavens sliding by. Suddenly a parachutist appeared and drifted by.

Parachutist—Going to join me?
Passenger—Thank you very much. I'm very happy just where I am.

Parachutist—Just as you like. I'm the pilot.

There was a clash between the lawyer and the magistrate. The latter ordered the lawyer to sit down, and as the lawyer, being deaf, didn't hear him and went on talking, the magistrate fined him $10.

The lawyer leaned toward the clerk of the court and cupped his hand behind his ear.
Lawyer—What did he say?
Clerk—He fined you $10.
Lawyer—What for?
Clerk—For contempt of court.

The lawyer shot a poisonous look toward the bench and thrust a hand into his pocket.
Lawyer—I'll pay it now. It's a just debt.

Ellenville Methodist Minister Transferred

The Rev. Ralph E. Spoor Jr., pastor of Ellenville Methodist Church for the past four years, has been transferred by the Newburgh Methodist Conference to a charge in Tarrytown.

He will be succeeded by the Rev. C. T. Albertson, former pastor of Tarrytown Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Albertson is a native of Poughkeepsie. He and Mrs. Albertson have three children.

The Rev. Mr. Albertson will preach his first sermon this Sunday.

Girl Found Alive

Old Forge, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—A helicopter pilot radioed today that 11-year-old Joan (Penny) Grabbs, missing since 8:30 last night, was found alive this morning, deep in the Adirondack wilderness. She was to be flown out of the area, near Big Otter Lake. The message was received here on a fire truck radio. Further details were not available immediately. More than 100 state police and volunteers had been searching for the girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grabbs of Old Forge.

Tanker Reaches Eilat

Amman, Jordan, May 7 (AP)—A second U. S. tanker, loaded with oil apparently from Iran, has reached the southern Israeli port of Eilat. This was reported today from Agaba, which is in Jordan a short distance from Eilat at the head of the Gulf of Agaba. (Information received indirectly from Israel substantiated the Jordan report. Censors apparently were keeping Jerusalem correspondents from cabling the news. Israeli officials have expressed fear that publicity might incite the Arabs to stop such shipments.)

Italy Seeks Premier

Rome, May 7 (AP)—President Giovanni Gronchi today began the search for a politician to patch together a new government from Italy's moderate center front. The center coalition's collapse forced premier Antonio Segni to resign last night after 22 months in office. Seen as strong possibilities were two prominent lawyers, both members of Segni's Christian Democratic party. They are Adone Zoli, finance minister in the old government, and Guido Gonella, who served as minister without portfolio under Segni.

Leslie, Colony Albany sales manager, Mrs. Vincent J. Andretta, Vincent J. Andretta, Sr., Mrs. John M. Cashin, Judge John M. Cashin, Charles W. Clement, Southern Comfort representative and W. J. BONUS BABY CASHES IN—James Christopher Owens, 3 1/2 years old, one of the youngest of General Electric's 376,000 stockholders, receives his quarterly dividend check from Miss Joyce Maguire at the Schenectady, N.Y., offices. Jimmy has been a share owner all of his life because he was born on the company's 75th anniversary, Oct. 15, 1953. Children born to employees on that day each received five shares of GE stock. The stock has since been split so Jimmy and the other "bonus" babies each own 15 shares and are sharing with other stockholders more than 43 million dollars in dividends distributed during the recent annual stockholders' meeting.

M-M-M-MINK!—Four-year-old Camilla Neilson obviously isn't too young to get that feeling that only mink can give a girl. On hand to meet her aunt at San Francisco's International Airport, Camilla just had to try on auntie's mink coat.

"WINDOW-WASHING" ROAD BUILDERS—A three-man crew of road builders use the U.S. window washers' technique as they "face up" the perpendicular side of a rock cliff at Caqueza, Colombia, on the new Villavicencio-Bogota Highway. Smooth surfaces on the sides of the cliffs prevent torrential rains from causing erosion and landslides. The new road is 230 miles long and opens up the Colombian Llanos, a 250,000 mile "Texas-like" cattle country—virtually uninhabited. Starting at sea-level zero the road climbs to a chilly 12,000 feet and then goes down to 8,000 feet at Bogota.

May 23 Deadline To File for War Scholarship Grant

Applications are now being accepted for the 1,200 scholarships available for distribution in the 1957 series of New York State Regents War Service Scholarships for Veterans, according to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and Howard Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. These scholarships with a value of $1,400 each are open to honorably discharged veterans who served in World War 1 or World War 2 or between June 24, 1950 and July 1, 1955.

Last of Series

It is the last in the War Scholarships series available to veterans of World Wars 1 and 2. Future series will be limited to Korean War Veterans.

"I wish to emphasize," said Director Shurter, "that this is the final opportunity for veterans of World War 1 and World War 2 to avail themselves of these War Service Scholarships offered by the State of New York."

"Applications for these awards," the veterans' official continued "must be filed by May 23, 1957, and for that reason all interested veterans should give the matter their most immediate attention."

Qualified veterans who are interested in obtaining application forms and further information regarding the scholarships should get in touch at once with the State Division of Veterans Affairs office and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main street, Kingston, or any of the branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

The Mastro Contracting Company, Monticello, was awarded a contract for construction of a pumping station in the Eastview Hills Development near Ellenville at a meeting of the Ellenville Board of Trustees Monday night.

Other firms submitting bids were Abraham Nosanchuck, Mountandale; DeForrest Construction Company, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J.; Turbine Equipment Company, Westfield, N. J.; and Ulster Equipment Corp., Stone Ridge.

The board also decided to put wrecked automobiles at each end of the village with appropriate signs calling attention to the horrors of reckless driving.
